

Try Parking It E-Blast

December 2015/January 2016

Happy Holidays from TryParkinglt.com!

Tis the season, to be jolly! Holidays are drawing near, and another year is coming to a close. How will you spend the remainder of 2015? Consider venturing out with family, friends, or going solo to one of the many winter events North Texas has to offer. However, with holiday excitement comes holiday crowds so, yes, there will be traffic.

Don't lose that joyful spirit and become a Scrooge because of congestion, simply take an alternative commute. Consider carpooling, along with taking buses and rail instead of driving alone. Utilizing these options will aid in decreasing traffic and minimize the stress in traveling to your destination. Belt out holiday tunes while carpooling with family or friends on the way to your winter event. Take public transportation for the opportunity to make new friends heading to the same place as you. Whichever alternative commute you choose, you can't go wrong! Don't forget that you can always check for carpool matches on TryParkinglt.com as well. When you awake from your food hibernation after Thanksgiving weekend, the revamped Try Parking It website will be active, so try out the single-trip matching feature for traveling to our region's holiday activities.
